In this session we will introduce ideas for remaining neutral and maintaining your credibility as you hold the pen. We will also introduce some very basic graphic facilitation tips to help you capture feedback in a meaningful way and harness the power of visuals to literally help people "see what they mean". Artistic skills NOT required!

Often conversations about reconciliation can quickly become uncomfortable and it can be difficult to get to a place of meaningful dialogue. In this session we will create a safe space to ask questions and have a meaningful conversation with a panel of planners experienced in First Nations planning and reconciliation efforts. For this session, our discussion will be captured by a graphic facilitator.
