

geog 464

OFFERED THIS SUMMER!

PLANNING STUDIO

Art of Place Making, Tactical Urbanism and Community Design

*Interested in community planning,
communication design,
and place making?*

This course will focus on the technique of Tactical Urbanism, a term used to describe the creation of quick, low-cost changes to the built environment that can inspire and improve neighborhoods and gathering spaces.

Gain an understanding of place making and how urban planning and design can help to communicate with communities.

Taught collaboratively by:

- Urban and campus planners
- Geographers
- Graphic designers

*Lectures take place in the evenings in May,
with a place making project in June.*

For more information, and registration permission, contact Cherie Enns, at cherie.enns@ufv.ca

