Indigenizing Planning: Presentation to Planning Institute of British Columbia Forward Thinking Shaping Communities

By: Gwen Bridge

Overview – reconciliation in planning

- 1. What do we need to know
  - how to reconcile our worldviews and ways of knowing
- 2. Why do we need to know it
  - it's the right thing to do and may offer us insights and opportunities to guide to improve relationships (history of inclusion of indigenous planning in BC)
- 3. What happens when we know it
  - we practice open-mindedness and creativity to provide guidance towards a future with more equalized economic and societal benefits
  - We "indigenize planning"

United Nations DECLARATION on the RIGHTS of INDIGENOUS PEOPLES

UNDRIP - 2007

- Highest level of international guidance endorsed by indigenous peoples – not legally binding
  - Canada endorsed in 2016
  - US endorsed with caveats in 2010
  - BC passed the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples Act (DRIPA) in 2019

• States to:

- 1. acknowledge and recognize rights
- 2. protect those rights
- 3. pay to protect, redress, mitigate impacts to, those rights

Specific references

Meant to guide governments

- Article 18 The right to participate in decision making and to develop indigenous decision making institutions
- Article 25 The right to maintain and strengthen unique spiritual relationships with, and responsibilities to, traditional lands, waters, and other resources for current and future generations
- Article 27 To establish and implement, with indigenous peoples, a system whereby indigenous people's laws, traditions, customs and land tenure systems are recognized and indigenous rights can be adjudicated.

 Article 29 "Indigenous peoples have the right to the conservation and protection of the environment and productive capacity of their lands", and that "states shall establish and implement assistance programmes for indigenous peoples for such conservation and protection, without discrimination."

Working Definition for Purposes of this Study

Social Equity: The promotion of justice and fairness and the removal of systemic barriers that may cause or aggravate disparities experienced by different groups of people. This can include the many dimensions of identity, such as socioeconomic status, ethnicity, sex, age, disability, gender, sexuality, religion, indigeneity, class, and other equity related issues.

Definition to be refined through the course of Study

Study Methods

Academic Research – Key Themes

- Process and outcomes
- Social equity supports economic growth
- Organizations must consider their role in perpetuating exclusion
- Avoid silos
- Integrate Indigenous perspectives and work towards Reconciliation
- Measure and monitor equity indicators
- Mainstream an equity approach

Lessons Learned from Recent Practice - Interviews

- Both urban growth and no-growth policies have impacts
- Governments legacies of inequity
- Define "social equity"
- Data as a foundation
- Inclusive engagement practices
- Targeted investment

Review of 12 Peer Jurisdiction Plans

- Auckland
- Toronto
- Minneapolis
- Puget Sound Regional Council
- Stockholm

- San Diego
- New York Metropolitan Region
- Saskatoon
- Metro Vancouver
- Sound Transit

- Nanaimo Regional District
- Greater Golden
   Horseshoe
- LA County Metro

Recommendations for Regional Policy

- Define social equity (in context)
- Integrate social equity into all aspects of regional policy
- Acquire data on key disparities in the region
- Targeted policies and investments to address inequity
- Use data to understand and mitigate for the uneven harms that may be caused by growth
- Social equity performance measures
- Working group and collaboration with regional partners

Phase 2 Study – Scope (2020)

Consider the concept of social equity in relation to growth management and develop an approach to apply an equity lens to regional policy.

Three Tasks

- 1. Equity Baseline Data Report
- 2. Stakeholder Engagement
- 3. Approach for Applying an Equity Lens to regional policies
